

Signs and symptoms of secondary breast cancer a quick guide

This chart shows some of the signs and symptoms of secondary breast cancer, but it's not possible to list them all. So if your symptoms are new, don't have an obvious cause and don't go away, tell your breast care nurse or doctor about them. Remember, these and many other symptoms can be caused by other things, such as cancer treatments or different illnesses.

Make sure you ask your doctor or breast care nurse who to contact if you need to report any symptoms that are new, don't have an obvious cause and don't go away.
